

FASHION REVOLUTION WEEK

18-24th April 2022

MONEY FASHION POWER

Fashion Revolution Week 2022

Fashion Revolution Week is the annual campaign bringing together the world's largest fashion activism movement for seven days of action. This year, the campaign will run from Monday 18th-Sunday 24th April.

The theme for Fashion Revolution Week 2022 is MONEY FASHION POWER. This theme builds on the knowledge that the mainstream fashion industry relies upon the exploitation of labour and natural resources. Wealth and power are concentrated in the hands of a few, and growth and profit are rewarded above all else. Big brands and retailers produce too much too fast, and manipulate us into a toxic cycle of overconsumption. Meanwhile, the majority of people that make our clothes are not paid enough to meet their basic needs, and already feel the impacts of the climate crisis - which the fashion industry fuels.

As global citizens, we all have the power to take action. Now is the time to rise up together for a regenerative, restorative and revolutionary new fashion system. Now is the time for a Fashion Revolution.

“We will expose the profound inequities and social and environmental abuses in the fashion supply chains. From the uneven distribution of profits, to overproduced, easily discarded fashion, to the imbalances of power that negate inclusion. Meanwhile, inspiring new designers, thinkers and professionals all over the world are challenging the system with solutions and alternative models. Fashion Revolution Week is all of this, scrutinising and celebrating fashion, globally and locally, wherever you are.” - Orsola de Castro, Co-founder and Global Creative Director, Fashion Revolution

Throughout the week, we will be asking citizens to get involved by asking brands #WhoMadeMyClothes and #WhatsInMyClothes challenging policymakers to take action on living wages. We invite people to tell their fashion love stories to make #LovedClothesLast. There are also resources for brands and retailers, producers, trade unions and students and educators to take part, including how to host their own event.

A variety of online and offline events will take place during Fashion Revolution Week. Highlights include Good Clothes, Fair Pay: Living wages in the global fashion industry, a panel discussion with policy experts, Around the World of Fashion Revolution, an Instagram Live chat with global fashion revolutionaries, and Money Fashion Power book club, a fireside discussion around Fashion Revolution's fanzine.

Additionally, our Fashion Open Studio showcasing initiative will celebrate pioneering designers through a programme of free events that demonstrate alternative business models and honour the people who make our clothes. Designers from Chile, Egypt, USA, Venezuela, South Korea, Zimbabwe, Czech Republic, France, Bangladesh and the UK will be taking part. Through short films, conversations, studio tours and workshops, attendees will be inspired to make changes across the industry as well as in their own wardrobes.

Together, we can reimagine a just and equitable fashion system for people and the planet during Fashion Revolution Week and beyond.
